LORD ROSEBERY PLEADS FOR BETTER MANNERS

Denounces Decay of Courtesy Throughout the World as a Bad Sign.

LONDON, Aug. 6 .- Lord Rosebery recently alked to the boys of the Royal Grammar School at Guildford on the subject of man-He founded his discourse upon one of the statutes of the school framed 300 years ago, which he believed required much more attention than was usually paid to it. The statute said that abasence from church or like assemblies without just cause must be punished. Honesty and cleanliness of life, genuinely decent speech, humility, courtesy and good manners were to be established by all good means.

"Now, the point I wish to labor for the moment," Lord Rosebery proceeded, "is that of courtesy and good manners. Why did men of the early seventeenth century

500 GERMAN SINGERS GIVE PARK CONCERT

Their Songs of the Fatherland.

WAY MADE FOR A CRIPPLE

Whose Nerves Are Aided by the Music.

The presence of the United German Singing Societies of New York at the concert on the Mall of Central Park yesterday afternoon drew the largest crowd of the summer. The attendance as estimated by the police was 20,000. Franz Kaltenborn and his orchestra of fifty pieces gave the regular concert.

The German societies sent 500 men who occupied an amphitheatre at the east side of the band stand. A bis German flag was stretched between two big elms and swayed over their heads F. Albeke, the conductor, occupied a high box decorated with the Stars and Stripes. After filling all the available benches the spectators sat on the slope of the terrace to the east and squatted on the lawn to the west of the band stand.

After the concert had started a crippled girl in a wheel chair who attends all the park concerts because the music southerner nerves arrived too late to get near the stand. Park Commissioner Stover saw her and sent a policeman to clear a way for her.

The first number was "Die Ehre Gottes in der Natur" ("God's Glory in Nature"), and the audience insisted upon an encore when they sang the sailors' chorus from "The Flying Dutchman."

They also gave "Old Black Joe," "Ewig Liebe Heimat." "Dixieland" and selections from "Rienzi." and the audience insisted upon an encore

AUTOS COLLIDE IN QUEENS. Two Persons Badly Injured in Crash on Merrick Road.

Two persons were badly injured yesterday afternoon when two large automobiles came together at the Merrick road and Central avenue, Springfield, Queens borough. There were ten persons in the two cars. One of the autos turned completely over and its five occupants were buried under it. The injured persons were hurried to St. Mary's Hospital at Jamaica. One of the machines, owned by Mrs. Emily Morell of 176 Magnolia avenue, Arlington, N. J., was driven by her son Edward. In the car besides them were her brother, Richard Cludroy, 26 years of age, of Kearny, and his wife and their nfant child.

The other car was owned and driven by Jack Dastenhouw of 379 Boston road, The Bronx.

The Morell machine was thrown to one side of the road and its five occupants hurled out and under it. Dastenhouw stopped his machine and went to the aid f those in the other car.

Mrs. Morell was the most severely injured. She sustained lacerations of the face, head and back. Richard Cludroy was injured about the back and shoulder and was also cut about the head and face. His wife was badly shaken up and severely bruised. The little child es-caped unhurt and so also did Edward There were no arrests.

DR. MORGAN NOT TO COME HERE.

London Divine Won't Become Pastor of Madison Ave. Reformed Church.

The Rev. Dr. G. Campbell Morgan of London, after the service at the Madison Avenue Reformed Church yesterday, set at rest the reports that he would become pastor of the church by announcing that he had too much to do elsewhere to think of preaching here permanently. So great was the crush to hear the London preacher yesterday that several persons fainted. In the morning the preacher paused while one young man was carried from the auditorium.

Men and women sat upon the pulpit steps, filled the organ loft, there being no choir, and stood to the end of the sermon in the aisles. Even then hundreds were unable to get into the church. THREE SAVED AT ATLANTIC CITY In the opening prayer in the morning Dr. Morgan offered a petition for the holy catholic church. He asked that it might be truly catholic no matter by what name called. Then he asked that peace might prevail among Christians in America, and that they might adjust all differences as Christians should. In his sermon he said: "A man may be orthodox in theology and be damned." Speaking of various types of men he said the cynic is the most contemptible of all, as "he never overcomes anything."

Then he added that "the man who diagnoses my malady and has no remedy propose is not the physician for me."
Dr. Morgan will lecture at Chautauqua and then go to Chicago to preach next Sunday.

The Madison Avenue Reformed Church has proposed union with the Central Presbyterian Church in Fifty-seventh cluding a sale of its property. Not long ago about $30,000 was raised to pay interest on a heavy mortgage debt, and a was announced that a preacher of the first rank would be secured. No one could

With the return of these two leaders from their vacation the fall suffrage campaign will begin. Mrs. Catt, who is chairman of the 1915 campaign committee for the seven New York societies, will start at once a school for suffrage orators. Though there are about 200 speakers in the field already there are many districts as yet untouched and several hundred thousand voters to be spelibound before 1915.

Cut Vacation Short.

Miss Hay has cut short her vacation for the express purpose of tackling the designation committee meetings of the various political parties, which are to be held this week. The Woman Saffrage held this week. The Woman Saffrage party has sent letters to the committees in each of the Assembly districts re-questing permission to address each meetquesting permission to address each meeting for five minutes. These meetings are held to designate the candidates for the Assembly who will be voted upon at the primaries. The suffragists hope that only candidates who espouse the "cause" will be nominated. They don't want any Assemblymen at Albany who cannot be depended upon in an emergency. The Assemblymen at Albany who cannot be depended upon in an emergency. The bill for the woman suffrage referendum has been indorsed by all three political parties. It has passed one Legislature, and cannot be voted upon again until 1915, so it is felt to be safe; but "you never can tell what they may spring on us." the women say.

Will Ask Written Pledges.

After the candidates are really nomi-

After the candidates are really nominated the women will go at them again, this time with written pledges for them to sign. Those who sign their names to the suffrage pledge will be published throughout the State and all good suffragists will be expected to support them.

"We can't go in for actual campaigning," said Mrs. Sarah J. Russell yesterday, "because we are not partisan. We will support the candidates of all three parties if they are suffragists. We will use our indirect influence in their behalf, however, and we will speak of them kindly at all our street meetings."

Miss Hay will have charge of the sixty-three Assembly districts of Greater New York and Mrs. Carl Osterhold of the rest of the State.

TO SEEK FOR VOTES AT PICNIC. New Jersey Suffragiats Will Invade

Grangers' Fete. "Rob Roy." was met at the American Line pier yesterday morning by the New York Scottish Highland Pipe and Drum, Band upon her arrival on the St. Paul. Capt. John Rowe of the Caledonian Society of New York was there too to give Miss Abott a letter of welcome from the society.

Miss Abott has been abroad two months and during that time has visited England, Scotland, France and Italy. She has purchased an estate in the latter country near Florence. Miss Abott will begin rehearsals immediately for the opening at the Liberty Theatre on September 15.

The other theatrical notables who arrived on the St. Paul, included Arthur liberty and Miss Andrews, all of East. Orange.
